

Plymouth – December 2021

Eversource has completed the steady state analysis and is in the process of pulling together a presentation to review with customers. Due to upcoming holiday timing and to allow for the maximum attendance possible, Eversource anticipates presenting the steady state results to customers in early January. Eversource is expected to finish the dynamic analysis in December followed by a customer presentation on the dynamic analysis results also in January.

Eversource's intention is to keep all customers regularly informed (at least monthly) on the progress and discuss any significant risks or concerns Eversource encounters during the analysis. Factors that may impact the completion schedule and associated activities include but are not limited to: base case modeling issues; DER stability model issues; solution development for potential adverse system impacts; and/or significant Member Impact changes requiring review.
